THE CAUCASIAN.

Pure Democracy and White Supremacy.

VOL. VIII.

CLINTON, N. C., THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 1890.

No. 48.

ONE OF GRADY'S PUPILS
In far off Texas Speaks out.Mr. P. K. Faison, a native of Sampson county, who is editor of the Clarksville (Tex.) Enterprise says editorially:Representative McClammy of the third North Carolina district, who has acquired some notoriety in his state by his support of the sub-treasury bill, will be succeeded in congress by B. F. Grady, who has received the Democratic nomination from that district. Whether or not Mr. McClammy's position on the sub-treasury bill had anything to do with his defeat the Enterprise is not informed, but we would judge not as his successor, Mr. Grady, is a farmer and it is fair to presume that he is in sympathy with the teachings of the farmers and the allies of his district. As Mr. Grady is one of the editor's old teacher and a friend of his family, we know him well and rejoice to learn that his distinguished ability has at last received some recognition at the hands of the people of North Carolina. A graduate of Chapel Hill in its palmy days, one of the brainiest men in the state and one of the most accomplished scholars in the South, his innate modesty, scholarly habits and lack of suavity of manners so essential for the politician or the man of the world have caused him for a long time to be misunderstood and have kept him in the back ground. The prime of his life has been spent in instructing the youths of his country in a capacity no higher than that of principal of a high school and for the last fifteen years his life has been one of labor on a small farm in his native county. He has never occupied the positions for which he was best qualified both by nature and education and this honor from the people of his district is a just tribute to one of the ablest, truest and most meritorious sons of the South.

A FUNNY MAN FOR GOVERNOR.

It pays to be funny and have sense too. G. W. Peck, editor of not a very funny paper in Milwaukee, was nominated for mayor a year or so ago and the republicans thought the joke a prime one. They saw the point when he walked into office with a handsome majority. Now he is nominated for governor on the democratic ticket and the republicans will not know whether to smile or look serious.—Asheville Citizen.

Many a Republican who has laughed heartily at the fun of this funny man, will hardly be able to see the fun in the joke that will be played on them next November. Peck is the author of "Peck's Bad Boy."

REVERENCE.

There is no virtue, no grace, in postures and attitudes. This truth we do not question. But if we refuse to express reverence we shall soon cease to feel reverence. This also is a truth. It is not enough to be interested in a general sense, in the services of the sanctuary. (God is greatly to be feared (reverenced) in the assembly of the saints and in the congregation.) True reverence, and worship, will express itself somehow as long as we are compounded of body and spirit. Starve expression, and how long will the feeling endure? We are persuaded that it has declined in many if not in most of our congregations. It is greatly to be wished that it might be revived. But in a fixed habit of our souls we need to adopt suitable methods of expression. We should feel more like praying if we adopt some proper attitude of prayer. By kneeling, bowing the head, covering the eyes—by some bodily action or attitude expressive of reverence and adoration—we shall be far more likely to cultivate the true spirit of devotion.—Ex.

FROM MOORE COUNTY.

The Good Work of the Democratic Convention.

[Spec. State Chronicle.]
Carthage, N. C., Sept. 6.—The Democratic convention of Moore county nominated the following officers to day: Senate; Geo. Wilcox; House, W. P. M. Currie; Clerk Superior Court, D. A. McDonald; Register of Deeds, M. L. Kelly; Sheriff, J. F. Currie; Coroner, D. G. McLeod; Surveyor, Francis Deaton.

W. J. ADAMS.

This is a very strong ticket—composed of good men—and it will win.

AMBITION YOUNG MEN.

Don't be afraid the ambitious young man will climb too fast. There are plenty of envious and mediocre fellows who will gladly take hold of his coat-tail and pull him down to the earth before he has had an opportunity to show how well he could fly. Envy and jealousy have a strong hold upon small minds, and they are sufficiently numerous to make the ascent to the heights difficult and dangerous.—State Chronicle.

The Bible says: "God is love." It is nowhere said, God is power, or wisdom, though He is all powerful and allwise. But it is said, He is love, because love is the essence of God.

A Forum of Public Opinion.

THE OPINION OF OUR READERS ON THE VARIOUS TOPICS OF THE DAY.

We offer this column to our readers in which to discuss topics of interest and profit to them.—Ed.

Is it Wise. Is it Just? Call a Halt.

Mr. Editor: I am a Democrat and from early manhood been indoctrinated in its faith. For years, I have advocated its doctrines and on all occasions adhered to the principles enunciated in its various platforms. Retrenchment, reform and economy have been the watch-words. They have been the tocsin of war and prominently held up to the public gaze by pen and tongue and the tolling masses of our people led to believe that the burden of taxation would be lightened. With this assurance of relief, they have bravely and steadily upheld its banner and marched on to repeated victory.

With a devotion, almost unexampled, to the tenets of this grand old party, they have tacitly bowed to her every behest and unflinchingly submitted to every species of taxation.

Now, in the face of all this in the midst of their misfortune and poverty occasioned by the failure of crops for the last five years, we find this same old party assembled in Raleigh a few days ago in the capacity of a State Convention embodying among other things in its platform a demand for increased taxation for public schools. This is the cause of our complaint and with respectful difference to the sagacity and wisdom of those who saw proper to make this demand, I as an humble citizen and voter raise my voice in protestation of the increase of this already onerous taxation. The necks of our people are already galled by the weight of taxation, and it is a matter of no wonder. That not infrequently is heard the cry of distress and discord in our party ranks.

I do not wish to be understood as opposing education, for I am not, I believe it essential in promoting goodness and greatness and a stepping stone to individual as well as national prosperity, but are we prepared at this particular time of our financial distress to submit to increased taxation. I think not. Surely our public schools are doing well enough and taxation is high enough. Then why continue to add insult to injury by increased taxation. When it is well known in every section of North Carolina, that our people have been taxed, yes taxed until the "brow of labor sweats in vain."

I hope therefore in our county convention which meets in Clinton, 10th of September next that our delegates will not give endorsement to such sentiments in the preparation of their platform or in the selection of their candidates. TAX-PAYER.
Sept. 4th.

KEEP STILL.

(Dr. Burton.)

Keep still. When trouble is brewing, keep still. When slander is getting on its legs, keep still. When your feelings are hurt, keep still, till you recover from your excitement at any rate. Things look differently through an unquiet eye. In a commotion once I wrote a letter, and sent it, and wished I had not. In my later years I had another commotion, and wrote a long letter; but life had rubbed a little sense into me, and I kept that letter in my pocket against the day when I could look it over without agitation and without tears. I was glad I did. Less and less it seemed necessary to send it. I was not sure it would do any hurt, but in my doubtfulness I learned reticence, and eventually it was destroyed. Time works wonders. Wait till you can speak calmly, and then you will not need to speak may be. Silence is the most massive thing conceivable sometimes. It is strength in its very grandeur. It is like a regiment ordered to stand still in the mad fury of battle. To plunge into war twice as easy. The tongue has unsettled more ministers than small salaries ever did, or lack of ability.

The premium lists of Goldsboro's coming Fair (October 21-23) will be ready for distribution early in next week; and they contain a splendid array of premiums and advertisements.—Goldsboro Argus.

WEATHER CROP BULLETIN

For the Week Ending Sept. 6 '90.

Central Office, Raleigh, N. C.
The weather during the week ending Saturday, September 6, 1890, has been very favorable for arm operations nearly everywhere. The early part of the week was cloudy with occasional showers, the precipitation being below the average except in the north-eastern portion of the State, where it was in excess. The latter part of the week has been quite warm with plenty of sunshine. Cotton is generally opening well and picking is progressing rapidly. The tobacco crop seems to be a very good one; the week was very favorable for making good cures, and far more have been unusually successful. Winter oats and wheat and some have already commenced to sow. A few reports indicate some damage to cotton from rust and shedding.

REMARKS OF SPECIAL CORRESPONDENTS.

Eastern district. Scotland Neck Halifax county—Heavy rain August 29th. Damaged cotton and late corn. Southport, Brunswick county—Weather generally favorable. Dover, Craven county—Beautiful weather. Everything looking fine. Rocky Point, Pender county, Cotton lost some by shedding, but will be full crop. Cotton picking commenced. Corn and peas nearly above average. Fodder nearly all saved. Clinton, Sampson county, Frequent light rains. Cotton being picked. Elizabeth City, Pasquotank county, Cool nights, heavy dews and too much rain decrease yield of cotton. Irish potatoes promise fair crop. Willetton, Gates county, Cotton has rust in places and continues to shed. Other crops doing well. Eden, Chowan county, Cotton has rust in places and continues to shed. Hertford, Perquimans county, Rain Thursday night and Friday; since then good weather. Rust on cotton in places. Good crop though.

PRESSURES.

We are apt to think at times that we should be happier if we had less to do. Probably some of us would, but we learn by experience that life's cares are its pleasures; that its burdens are like the weights of a clock, necessary to keep our machinery in good running order.

Stanley tells us in his "Dark Continent" that when crossing a rapid stream the natives put heavy rocks on their heads to keep them from being carried away by the force of the current, and thus they pass safely over. In crossing many a dangerous rapid in our lives we are steadied by the burdens resting on our shoulders, and without them we should fail to reach the desired shore.

It is better to wear out than to rust out. A watch that is not kept running soon loses the power to run. Keep it wound up, and it will go till it wears itself out. Omit winding and let it lie still, and dust accumulates, or the oil dries up or gets sticky, and the wheels refuse to move.

We can do what we have to do, but we cannot work more than twenty-four hours in one day, nor more than twelve or sixteen allowing time for food and sleep. When pressures are heavy, they crowd out a lot of superfluous work and compel us to do what most needs doing, often to our very great advantage. We accomplish a great deal because we neglect all the unimportant things and concentrate our forces on what cannot be neglected.

Those under heavy pressures cannot judge at the time how much good they are deriving from the weights resting on them; but their friends can see well enough how they improve in steadiness, in patience, in gentleness, in power of sympathy with others, in forgetfulness of self, in efficiency.

When the burden gets too heavy to be borne we learn what we should have learned in the beginning, that there is one who will bear the burden for us and with us, not permitting us to be tempted above what we are able to bear.—Exchange.

The News and Observer takes issue against the Clinton Caucasian on the Railroad Commission and says that it sees no cause for such a measure, that it would be better to spend more on the Agricultural and Mechanical College. Great minds sometimes differ.—Smithfield Herald.

SOMEHOW OR OTHER WE GET ALONG.

The good wife hustled about the house. Her face still bright with a pleasant smile. As broken stitches of happy song strengthened her heart and hand the while. The good man sat in the chimney nook. His little clay pipe within his lips. And all he'd made and all he'd lost. Ready and clear on his finger tips.

"Good wife, I've just been thinking a bit. Nothing has done very well this year. Money is bound to be hard to get. Everything's bound to be very dear. How the cattle are going to be fed. How we're to keep the boys at school. Is kind of a debit and credit sum. I can't make balance by any rule."

She turned her head from the baking bread. And she faced him with a cheerful laugh. "Why, husband, dear, one would think that the good, rich wheat was only chaff. And what if the wheat was only chaff. As long as we both are well and strong? I'm not a woman to worry a bit. Somehow or other we get along."

"If to some lives some rain must fall. Over all lands the storm must beat. But when the rain and storm are over, And all of them living and doing well. Through every street we have found a road. In every grove we've found a song. We've had to bear and had to wait. But somehow or other we get along."

"For thirty years we have loved each other. Stood by each other whatever betel. Six boys have called us father and mother. And all of them living and doing well. We owe no man a penny, my dear. We're both of us loving, well and strong. Good men, I wish you would smoke again. And think how well we've got along."

He filled his pipe with a pleasant laugh. He kissed his wife with a tender pride. He said, "I'll do you tell me love. I'll just count up on the other side." She left him with her better thought. And finished her work with a low, sweet song. A song that followed me many a year. Somehow or other we get along.

THE STREAM OF BENEFICENCE.

Christian giving is like a running stream. If money flows out of one's pocket it goes on a long mission of good. The rains poured on the sides of the mountains don't stay there. They will refresh the grass growing on the mountain side, but still go flowing along to make the corn of the valley grow. Then these waters gather into the stream that causes the meadow to carpet itself with green verdure. But the stream flows on swollen by tributary branches, and these united branches make a river. And now the river becomes a great mechanical power, turning the wheels of industry, mills built on its banks. And the smaller rivers uniting become a great liquid highway floating the commerce of a nation. So the stream of beneficence flows along clothing and feeding the hungry, educating poor boys and evangelizing the heathen. And those educated and converted ones become themselves streams of beneficence to a host of others. Then let your money be a fountain of beneficence, sending out streams to fertilize and beautify the earth.

HEART EARNESTNESS.

There is much that is wrong in our modern education. We teach our boys to be gentlemen, but the affections, the feelings, are neglected. We teach them to become successful business men, and the more they succeed the poorer they become it spirit. We help them to win positions of honor, but in gaining their end they pass by scenes of suffering, the tears of the sorrowful, the sigh of the oppressed, unmoved. This is all wrong. Without feeling we would be a nation of stoics. Let there be plenty of heart-earnestness. We believe in it. It is a power more potent in its results than the might of kings. Hearts that have been melted and subdued by it. Burning and loving words always find a response somewhere. The most eloquent orations have been delivered, the most beautiful sentences have been written, and they have been shown, and the power of touching the heart as the simple words of some earnest preacher of the cross.—Christian Weekly.

THE NEW A. AND M. COLLEGE BUILDING.

The new machinery building at the College of Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts has been completed according to contract, and was yesterday turned over to the board of trustees through Messrs. N. B. Broughton and W. S. Primrose. The apparatus and machinery for fitting up the building is expected to arrive in time for the opening of the school, which time is September 4th.—State Chronicle.

The Wilmington Messenger.

in an article on the State's duty to the State Guard, says:

The State should pay all the expenses of this very important organization and also allow every soldier a per diem while in the service of the State from home.

If the State Guard is worth anything to the State it will be necessary to take this step to preserve the organization.

REFLECTIVE THOUGHTS.

(FROM THE CAUCASIAN LEAFLET.)
In all lands poets have sung of cottage joys, of beautiful flowers, of blushing roses and modest daisies, of sweet-scented pinks and clusters of fragrant lilies. Worn trowsers in the busy cities and dingy towns dream over work bench, counter and ledger, of quiet homes near the restful hill-side and under the spread of branching tree and leafy vine. Where else can nature's charms receive so full homage as in the beautiful country home? Where else can the tuneful harmony of our inward natures resound in unison with the sublimer music of creative wisdom and goodness? No matter how humble, if adorned with godliness and contentment there is no place like home, and even in its lowliness it possesses charms to the owner that no tongue can describe or pen delineate.

But the folly of complaining destroys all love of the beautiful in nature and art, while true contentment lends charms to the graces of its possessor. It matters not how beautiful the form and face, without the cultivation of the mind and heart, we will still be wanting in sympathy.

Esthetics or literature pertaining to it should be instituted in the common schools. Teach the boys and girls all that is useful and agreeable and polishing to the manners. The time is even at hand when it is really essential to educate to avoid if possible the servitude of monetary autocrats who are gradually enslaving the masses. This is the opinion advanced by educated men—lovers of a free constitutional government.

The average farmer has been too indolent to employ his spare moments in the improvement of his mind, but they have been waking from the protracted lethargy all over this beautiful southland. This is due to the workings of the Farmers' Alliance. Some preachers have enlisted in the cause, and it is to be hoped that very many more will join the noble army for justice to all men and assist in putting down monopoly, and raise the banner of equal rights to all. The lovers of the beautiful and good things should enlist and not keep out of an order because bad men are in it for there are equally as bad men in the churches. The devil attends religious meetings and if he does not control the mind, he gets into men.

We should think of the wrongs so often perpetrated in order to carry points induced by prejudice, and perhaps we would get right and try to remain so. Nothing unclean can ever enter eternal rest; the liar is excluded as well as the profane swearer. The man who willfully and intentionally wrongs another is equally guilty before God's law. It is as wrong to sell "watered" cider as it is to perpetrate any other unfair and unrighteous transaction. Enough such stuff intoxicated some boys who attended a debating society and they played the part of regular old "sots." No matter how bad and mean they act in a certain section they are not corrected, but rather encouraged in it, still their parents' names are on the church roll, and dislike to hear any one denounce their meaner. What a pity that these people are so "wicked-lawless!" They pretend to be friends to you to-day and to-morrow they act like bitter foes. A member of the church remarked to the writer sometime ago that the editor of this paper stated in a sermon that we must love our neighbors as ourselves, and as he had never thought of the subject probably before, he could not understand that it was necessary, and thought it was impossible to do so, and that he could not see how it would affect one's happiness in the great hereafter. He was informed that it was required of us, also to pray for our enemies, and love and bless them that curse us. There is but one way to get to heaven, and the Bible plainly tells the way, but some people will not read and believe it, and those who will not will never walk the golden streets of the new Jerusalem, and bask in the Amaranthine bowers of the paradise of God.

THE CAUCASIAN.

Entered according to Act of Congress, in the year 1890, by CLINTON, N. C., in the office of the Postmaster.

DEMOCRATIC NOMINEES.

For Congress—3rd District,
BENJAMIN F. GRADY.

For Judge—5th District,
EDWIN T. BOYKIN.

For Solicitor—5th District,
OLIVER H. ALLEN.

CLINTON, N. C.—SEPT. 11, 1890.

Alliance Department.

ALLIANCE NOTES, DISCUSSIONS AND THE DOINGS OF THE VARIOUS LODGES.

DEPT. COUNTY ALLIANCE.

At a called meeting of the Dept. county Alliance held at Kenansville, Aug. 3rd 1890, the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted.

Whereas certain newspapers in the State of N. C. and among them the Wilmington Messenger, have while professing friendship to the principles of the Farmers' Alliance, seemingly sought every opportunity to misrepresent the purpose of the Alliance and its officers,

Resolved, That the Dept. county Alliance recommended to the members of the sub-Alliances in the county not to patronize any newspaper that pursues such a course.

Resolved, That the delegates to this Alliance be required to bring these resolutions before their sub-Alliances.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the Clinton Caucasian and Progressive Farmer.

J. B. OLIVER, Secretary.

SHAKE UP THE HATCHING.

The old money hen sets on monopoly eggs and is continually hatching out trusts, combines and corporations. The business of our so-called statesmen seems to be to care for the old hen and occasionally to appoint a committee of Senators and Representatives to chase one of the brood to where it roosts and rob it, but they are very careful never to harm it. They do this only when compelled to do so, in order to appease the clamor of the people, who are being robbed by this real brood. The thing to do is to kill the old money hen and break up the hatching and this is the mission of the Alliance.—California Newspaper.

THE GEORGIA ALLIANCE.

The Georgia State Alliance was in session in Atlanta last week. The most important action was the unanimous passage of a resolution endorsing the platform of the national Alliance adopted at the St. Louis convention. Cotton bagging was adopted as the Alliance covering of cotton as against jute. This is carrying out the fight on jute made last year, which was successful. The eligibility clause provides that no one shall be admitted to membership in the order unless he be a farmer, farm laborer, mechanic, country school teacher, country preacher, country physician, country editor or editor of a strictly agricultural journal.

Two thirds of the next Legislature will be composed of Alliance men who will elect a Senator to succeed Joe Brown the monopolist.

ALLIANCE WITH THOSE WHO ARE RIGHT.

The Advance was the first newspaper in the State to vigorously and systematically assail the homestead law and its legitimate offspring, the crop lien law, and we feel no little gratification that the Alliance should be with us on this important subject.—Wm. Advance.

USE NO JUTE BAGGING.

Raleigh, N. C., Aug. 30, 1890. We learn that in some localities it has been said that the State Alliance adopted jute bagging this year. The State Alliance raised to such resolution, but adopted and endorsed the national demands.

The National Alliance says we can use any other fiber except jute.

I hope no Alliance man will go back to the use of jute bagging this season, and cause us to have our fight over the jute trust again next year. We are assured that by next season we can have manufactured from our own cotton stalks fiber plenty of bagging, equally as heavy and good or better than jute and at a less cost, but if the brethren go back to the use of jute, it may hinder or cause parties to hold back from putting up manufacturing establishments in our own State. We also hope that no one who is friendly to the farmer, or wishes to see him succeed, will handle the jute this year. It would be a step backward to commence the use of jute again, and beside that it would be very unjust to our brethren of other States. One State that has written me that he has contracted for about one million yards of cotton bagging. The States further south say they will use much more cotton bagging this year than last.

There is an abundant supply of substitutes. The heavy select ed muslin sacks, weighing from 70 to 75 lbs. to the bale of 250 sacks, are as good bagging as we ever used. One firm has written me they could supply 250 million sacks.

Below I give you present quotations of substitute for covering cotton.

Clean cut bags sowed together, 2 and 2 1/2 lbs. to yd., 300 yards in bale, at 6 and 6 1/2 cents per yard, P. O. A. New York. Also clean heavy selected bags, from 700 to 750 lbs. in bale, at 5 1/2 cts. per lb. Cotton bagging, 11 inches wide, 12 ounces to yard, 12 1/2 per yard, P. O. E. Raleigh. Cotton bagging, ready for immediate delivery. Lighter weight, from 525 to 600 lbs. at 5 cts. delivered at Raleigh.

By using the heaviest material we can come near putting on the amount of tare taken off.

Can't ship less than a bale if it is to be cash.

New ties, $1.30 where freight rates are same as to Raleigh. Picked ties, $1.10 in Raleigh.

W. H. WORM, S. R. A.

The Co. Business Agent says I would like to call attention of the farmers of Sampson county, especially the members of the Alliance to a letter from Mr. Worth, State Business Agent, published in the above.

This letter is headed "Use no Jute Bagging," and I earnestly hope that all farmers will comply with the request. If by our following the demands of the National Alliance, and use no jute, we can be the means of building up an industry that will utilize our cotton stalks in the manufacture of a covering for cotton that is equal to jute in every respect, and at as low a price or even lower in price than we are fully repaid for all we have sacrificed in not using jute and if the Alliance fight against the jute trusts does no other good. This one achievement is enough, and we can always refer to our fight with pride, and show to the world what a great industry we have been the means of building this here in our midst, and the beauty of it all is, we are to be the recipients of nearly all that will result from this great enterprise in a pecuniary standpoint, so let us be firm and stand by the demands of the National Alliance, so as to hurry forward this one great enterprise in which we are so much interested.

G. A. CHUTE, C. R. A.

BLADEN CONVENTION.

Be Sure

If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other. Hood's Sarsaparilla is a peculiar medicine, possessing, by virtue of its peculiar combination, proportion, and preparation, curative power superior to any other article. A Boston lady who knew what she wanted, and whose example is worthy imitation, tells her experience below.

To Get

"In one store where I went to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla the clerk tried to induce me to buy their own instead of Hood's; he told me their's would last longer; that I might take it on ten days trial; that if I did not like it I need not pay anything, etc. But he could not prevail on me to change. I told him I knew what Hood's Sarsaparilla was. I had taken it, was satisfied with it, and did not want any other."

Hood's

When I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla I was feeling very miserable, suffering a great deal with dyspepsia, and so weak that at times I could hardly stand. I looked, and that for some time like a person in consumption. Hood's Sarsaparilla did me so much good that I wonder at myself sometimes, and my friends frequently speak of it. Mrs. Alice A. Gore, 41 Terrace Street, Boston.

A terrible crime was committed at Ramonville, a village 16 miles northwest of Lockport, N. Y., Saturday. A boy named Charles Grambo, aged 14, son of Frederick Grambo, a farmer, murdered his adopted sister, Rose Grambo, aged eight or nine years.

There were no eye witnesses to the crime, as the children were left alone at home while the parents went away. Young Grambo, it is said, had an empty shotgun, which he brought out into the yard and fired the little girl was playing. He loaded it with sand and gravel, and placing the muzzle close to Rose's head fired. The gun must have been close, as the girl's face is full of powder. The young villain then carried the girl into the house, as blood was found in several rooms. He then hitched up a horse, placed the body of the dying girl in the wagon, threw a blanket over her, and started to Dr. Long's house. The doctor tried to probe for the bullet, but found they had penetrated the brain and that there was no hope to save the child. The boy told contradictory stories, but held that the shooting was purely accidental. He is known as being wild and headstrong. The theory is that the boy shot her in a jealous rage. He has not been arrested yet, but the coroner will investigate.

Work on a Great Ditch.
The Nicaragua Canal Beginning to Look Like Success.

Work is being pushed rapidly on the canal connecting the Atlantic and Pacific oceans by way of the Nicaragua route, in which much American capital is invested. Construction is so well under way that success is now assured. The Nicaragua Company has recently purchased the plant of the American Dredging Company, which has been in use on the Panama Canal, and the railroad which is to run parallel with the canal has 800 men employed in laying the tracks. There are but 23 miles of actual excavation to be made for the canal, 140 miles on the Pacific and 18 on the Atlantic side, the remainder of the distance, 140 miles, being through the natural waterways of Lake Nicaragua and the San Juan River.

Another Wreck on the New York Central.
Monday morning two North Shore limited trains, one going east and the other west, collided with terrific force on the Central track at Lockport, N. Y. Engine 692 of the train going east was telescoped by engine 735 of the western train, and they stood locked together with their smoke stacks nearly touching each other. By the force of the collision the tender of the engine of the east bound train was forced back over half its length into the Wagner buffet car 420 and the baggage car instantly killed. The tender of engine 735 was also driven in like manner into buffet car 419. The engineer, Edson Bradley, of Syracuse, sustained a compound fracture of both legs, the fireman received severe injuries, and passengers were badly shaken up.

Making Smokeless Powder.
The only smokeless powder factory in the United States is now erecting on the Ritz farm in Wayne county, West Virginia. Mr. J. W. Glen, of New York, has the contract for fitting up the buildings, which will be thirteen in number. The buildings will, altogether, it is said, cover four acres of ground. In a few days no person except employees will be permitted to enter the grounds.

The Best Advertising.
The most efficient advertising in behalf of Hood's Sarsaparilla is that which comes from the medicine itself. This is, in fact, the only cure for skin diseases, and it is being used by thousands of people who are suffering from it. It is being used by thousands of people who are suffering from it. It is being used by thousands of people who are suffering from it.

Death Revealed the Proof.
At Nebraska City, Neb., last week, James Mussey, who was shot in the head at Fort Donelson during the civil war, died. His application for a pension has been rejected because no trace of the bullet wound could be found. The autopsy discovered the bullet embedded in his skull. His widow will apply for a pension.

I shall be glad to send two bottles of my remedy free to any of your readers who have consumed it if they will send me their express and post office address. Respectfully,

The House has passed a bill granting a pension of $100 a month to General Barham.

The discussion in the Senate on the tariff bill is concluded on Tuesday of this week, when voting will begin.

Secretary Windom has issued a circular offering to prepay interest on bonds of the four per cent. consols of 1907.

A terrible crime was committed at Ramonville, a village 16 miles northwest of Lockport, N. Y., Saturday. A boy named Charles Grambo, aged 14, son of Frederick Grambo, a farmer, murdered his adopted sister, Rose Grambo, aged eight or nine years.

There were no eye witnesses to the crime, as the children were left alone at home while the parents went away. Young Grambo, it is said, had an empty shotgun, which he brought out into the yard and fired the little girl was playing. He loaded it with sand and gravel, and placing the muzzle close to Rose's head fired. The gun must have been close, as the girl's face is full of powder. The young villain then carried the girl into the house, as blood was found in several rooms. He then hitched up a horse, placed the body of the dying girl in the wagon, threw a blanket over her, and started to Dr. Long's house. The doctor tried to probe for the bullet, but found they had penetrated the brain and that there was no hope to save the child. The boy told contradictory stories, but held that the shooting was purely accidental. He is known as being wild and headstrong. The theory is that the boy shot her in a jealous rage. He has not been arrested yet, but the coroner will investigate.

Work on a Great Ditch.
The Nicaragua Canal Beginning to Look Like Success.

Work is being pushed rapidly on the canal connecting the Atlantic and Pacific oceans by way of the Nicaragua route, in which much American capital is invested. Construction is so well under way that success is now assured. The Nicaragua Company has recently purchased the plant of the American Dredging Company, which has been in use on the Panama Canal, and the railroad which is to run parallel with the canal has 800 men employed in laying the tracks. There are but 23 miles of actual excavation to be made for the canal, 140 miles on the Pacific and 18 on the Atlantic side, the remainder of the distance, 140 miles, being through the natural waterways of Lake Nicaragua and the San Juan River.

Another Wreck on the New York Central.
Monday morning two North Shore limited trains, one going east and the other west, collided with terrific force on the Central track at Lockport, N. Y. Engine 692 of the train going east was telescoped by engine 735 of the western train, and they stood locked together with their smoke stacks nearly touching each other. By the force of the collision the tender of the engine of the east bound train was forced back over half its length into the Wagner buffet car 420 and the baggage car instantly killed. The tender of engine 735 was also driven in like manner into buffet car 419. The engineer, Edson Bradley, of Syracuse, sustained a compound fracture of both legs, the fireman received severe injuries, and passengers were badly shaken up.

Making Smokeless Powder.
The only smokeless powder factory in the United States is now erecting on the Ritz farm in Wayne county, West Virginia. Mr. J. W. Glen, of New York, has the contract for fitting up the buildings, which will be thirteen in number. The buildings will, altogether, it is said, cover four acres of ground. In a few days no person except employees will be permitted to enter the grounds.

The Best Advertising.
The most efficient advertising in behalf of Hood's Sarsaparilla is that which comes from the medicine itself. This is, in fact, the only cure for skin diseases, and it is being used by thousands of people who are suffering from it. It is being used by thousands of people who are suffering from it. It is being used by thousands of people who are suffering from it.

Death Revealed the Proof.
At Nebraska City, Neb., last week, James Mussey, who was shot in the head at Fort Donelson during the civil war, died. His application for a pension has been rejected because no trace of the bullet wound could be found. The autopsy discovered the bullet embedded in his skull. His widow will apply for a pension.
